Jürgen Klopp is delighted that Liverpool's preparations for 2018-19 are officially under way after pre-season training. The Daily Mirror claims the Reds are not looking likely to bring in a new keeper for that position. During training today, Liverpool goalkeeper Danny Ward pulled off a superb save as reports emerge that he could convince Jürgen Klopp against dipping into the transfer market for a new signing in that position.

Steven Gerrard has provided an insight into Jürgen Klopp's training methods after a short spell under the German at Melwood. Gerrard has returned to Merseyside to maintain his fitness during the MLS off-season having left Liverpool for LA Galaxy earlier that year. He subsequently headed back to Liverpool to join the squad for pre-season training.

Walid Ouarab, a former player of Liverpool, has praised the leadership philosophy of Jürgen Klopp. Ouarab has said that Klopp has outlined the key to success in his first Liverpool training sessions. The midfielder has been impressed with Ward's attitude since the squad reconvened for pre-season training at the start. Klopp has been conducting training with his new players ahead of his Premier League bow at Tottenham Hotspur on Wednesday, August 8.

Jürgen Klopp is expected to return to training on Thursday after being released from hospital. The Liverpool manager missed Sunday's home game against Watford due to illness. The Reds boss was pictured smoking at the club's Melwood training ground before joining his players on their team bus. Liverpool boss Jürgen Klopp was up to mischief in Liverpool training as his stars prepared to take on Manchester United. Both Danny Ward and Karius have returned to training, with the latter set to make his debut for the Reds this weekend. Neither player will begin pre-season training until the 20th July. The same day that manager Jürgen Klopp and the rest of the squad who have already played two domestic friendlies against Chester and Bury in recent days are due to travel stateside.

Jürgen Klopp has returned to Liverpool training after missing Wednesday's session. Neither player will begin pre-season training until the 20th July, the same day that manager Jürgen Klopp and the rest of the squad who have already played two domestic friendlies against Chester and Bury in recent days are due to travel stateside. Liverpool's pre-season training stepped up again on Tuesday as Jürgen Klopp took another look at the players he hopes can lead his side to glory this season. There were some individuals looking to make an impression others who have just returned to Merseyside and one who caught everyone's eye. Jürgen Klopp has been impressed with Ward's attitude since the squad reconvened for pre-season training at the start. Klopp has been conducting training with his new players ahead of his Premier League bow at Tottenham Hotspur on Wednesday, August 8.

Lucas Leiva says Jürgen Klopp has outlined the key to success in his first Liverpool training sessions. The midfielder has been impressed with Ward's attitude since the squad reconvened for pre-season training at the start. Neither player will begin pre-season training until the 20th July, the same day that manager Jürgen Klopp and the rest of the squad who have already played two domestic friendlies against Chester and Bury in recent days are due to travel stateside.

Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp is reportedly delighted that Liverpool's preparations for 2018-19 are officially under way after pre-season training. The Daily Mirror claims the Reds are not looking likely to bring in a new keeper for that position. During training today, Liverpool goalkeeper Danny Ward pulled off a superb save as reports emerge that he could convince Jurgen Klopp against dipping into the transfer market for a new signing in that position.
